Snap’s Chief Taps Into the ‘Right Now’

As Snap, the parent company of Snapchat, takes steps to go public, its leader still relies on unconventional notions to upend social media.

By KATIE BENNER

Who’s Going to Be a Billionaire? The Biggest Winners of Snap’s I.P.O.

Public offerings by Google, Facebook and other technology companies created paths for a lucky few to become billionaires. Snap’s offering looks to be no exception.

By KATIE BENNER and MICHAEL J. de la MERCED

Feb. 3, 2017

Snapchat Parent Showcases Its Strength in Preparation for I.P.O.

By MICHAEL J. de la MERCED and KATIE BENNER

Making its filing public was one of the final steps the company would take before it begins trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

What Snap’s I.P.O. Filing Reveals About the Company

By THE NEW YORK TIMES

Disclosures showed strong growth in revenue and the number of daily users of Snapchat.

1. China Gains on the U.S. in the Artificial Intelligence Arms Race

The United States no longer has a strategic monopoly on a technology that is widely seen as the key factor in the next generation of warfare.

2d ago By JOHN MARKOFF and MATTHEW ROSENBERG