At BlackRock, Machines Are Rising Over Managers to Pick Stocks
By LANDON THOMAS Jr.
BlackRock is merging many actively managed mutual funds with peers that rely more on algorithms and models to pick stocks.

Uber resumes self-driving program three days after Arizona crash
Mar 27, "Uber Technologies Inc [UBER.UL] put its self-driving cars back on the road on Monday, voicing confidence in its autonomous vehicle program three days after one of its cars was involved in a crash in Tempe, Arizona. Uber wrapped up a brief investigation and cleared its autonomous cars to resume driving in the three cities where it operates a self-driving pilot program - Tempe, San Francisco and Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania..."